New Plants Are Expensive.

Our beds and our borders become crowded, and yet we are always meeting with plants we should like to possess and might easily grow; while, as if in despair of keeping pace with the times, societies are formed which devote themselves to the cultivation of some particular flower; firms associate themselves primarily with roses, lilies, chrysanthemums or orchids and are recognized as authorities, and costly illustrated books make their appearance at such frequent intervals that in some directions they bid fair to develop into libraries, with the varieties of one flower as their subject. No pains or ingenuity or money is spared, and unique specimens are searched for in the most distant parts of the world. The outlay in some cases is enormous.

Orchids being a very special branch of the gardener's art, it is well we should refer to the enormous sums that are expended in forming a collection of these fascinating flowers. Syndicates are constituted for their importation and a number of skilled collectors, who often carry their lives in their hands, are always at work in the East Indies, in Mexico, in the hot, steamy swamps of Brazil, in Madagascar, searching for new specimens. Twenty thousand pounds and more, it is said, may be easily spent upon a collection; 310 guineas have been paid for Cypripedium stonei, 300 for Vanda sanderiana, 235 for Æridæ lawrenciæ, 220 for Cattleya mendolli blantii and the prices of a large number of others range from 100 to 200 guineas a plant.—Saturday Review.

Wanted, a New Kind of Humorist.

So far from its being possible to "internationalize" humor, we may think ourselves lucky if we can manage to preserve even a national type. The Dickensian humor, it would seem, is "off;" the American droll, after a vogue of a good many years, is apparently ceasing to amuse; the "inverted aphorism" had but a short popularity and ultimately perished in calamitous and indeed unmentionable circumstances, and nothing seems growing up to take its place. The new generation "knocking at the door" rat tats with quite portentous gravity. This is, no doubt, an improvement on the older generations, who thought it a first rate stroke of wit to wrench off the knocker, but their successors are surely carrying a virtue to excess.

It seems a pity that they should be unable to laugh, but the most respected and "intellectual" among them cannot. It was the way of certain frivolous old fogies a few years ago to twit them with their supposed taste for what was then called the new humor, but there was really no foundation for the taunt. The new humor turned out to be simply the old buffoonery "writ small," and whoever its patrons are or were they are not to be found among the thoughtful young men who represent the generation with its hand on the door knocker.—Fortnightly Review.

Uses of Wild Rice.

Few know more of the reed of our river mud flats than that it furnishes the food on which fattens for the epicure the reedbird of autumn dinner tables, the bobolink of other seasons. But as wild rice, Zizania aquatica of science, it has played no mean part in the service of man. It was the staple food of the Indians that formerly inhabited northern Wisconsin and Minnesota, where the plant abounds on the margin of lakes. Dr. Elliott Cone says that it is still the chief recourse of the Objibway Indians on the reservations of Minnesota. They not only gather it for their own use, but for the purposes of trade. A common name is Indian rice, and the lakes along which the plants abound are known as rice lakes. Whole Indian villages will be tenantless in autumn, the inhabitants having gone "ricing," as the harvesting is termed. The Indians push their canoes into masses of rice, bend the heads of rice over a crotched stick and thrash the grain into the bottom of the boat.—Independent.

The Rhinoceros Bird.

Among the birds not commonly found is the rhinoceros bird, from the Transvaal. Buffel pikker is its Dutch name. Its habits are remarkable and its plumage unusual. Small flocks accompany most of the large antelopes, the buffaloes and the rhinoceroses, in South Africa, and run all over the creatures' bodies, picking off flies and insects. When an enemy approaches, the buffel pikkers sit in a line with heads raised on the back of the animal they are attending, like sparrows on a roof ridge, and signal "the enemy in sight." The plumage is curiously close, uniform and compact, so much so that the bird has an artificial look, as if covered with painted satin and not with feathers. The general tint of the body is cinnamon brown, with yellow beak and legs, giving the color effect of a brown and yellow iris.—London Spectator.

Minks Banish Snakes.

Water moccasins were formerly numerous in the region close to Taylor, La. In recent years they have become scarce, while minks have increased in numbers. Old hunters there say that the mink is the deadly enemy of the snake, and that in a fight the quadruped always comes off victorious.

ERIE MEDICAL CO., BUFFALO, N.Y.

One of the wrong things in this world is that a woman has to wait for a man to speak. Her happiness may depend upon him, but she is not permitted to tell him so, as he would be to tell her. She must depend upon her ability to create and foster in him a favorable and ardent feeling. To do this, she must depend much upon her appearance. No man admires a sallow skin, dull and sunken and circled eyes, bloodless lips, sunken cheeks. No man wants to marry an invalid. Very few invalids are attractive to either sex. It isn't natural that they should be. Many a woman's heart's happiness has been wrecked because of a crop of pimples or because of a foul breath, or because of some other unpleasant symptom of an irregularity in the performance of her natural functions.

Health in a woman brings clear complexion, red lips, vivacity, sparkle of eyes and intellect. Eternal watchfulness is the price of health. The downward road to disease is fatally easy to travel. Little disorders, little irregularities, little drains, lead to the most serious consequences. Put a stop to them! Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will do it without the embarrassment of examinations and "local treatment" so much dreaded by modest women. In nine cases in ten, there is absolutely no need of them. The "Favorite Prescription" has been prescribed by Dr. Pierce for over 30 years and has cured the very worst forms of female troubles.

A book of 1000 pages, profusely illustrated, written by him containing much valuable information and letters from hundreds of grateful women, will be sent absolutely free on receipt of twenty-one cents, in one-cent stamps, to pay postage and wrapping only, by WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

WHY NOT TAKE INDEPENDENT ACTION?

British arguments in favor of maintaining the single gold standard in the United States are being distributed by the Republican National Committee. Mr. Hanna and his friends—the trusts, gold gamblers and monopolies—desire to make this country a financial dependency of the money kings of London. This would be of much greater advantage to Great Britain than if the United States was one of its political dependencies. Under our present financial system Great Britain purchases our silver, our cotton, our wheat and our corn at one-half the prices it would have to pay if silver was remonetized. The masses, who are financially injured by this policy, object to having it firmly fastened on the country, but the few who are benefited by it insist on its continuance until Great Britain consents to have it changed.

Why should the people of the United States, who now number about 70,000,000, await the assent of any nation on the globe to do what even the gold men admit would be beneficial to the country? Three millions of people established a republic in this country against the wishes of Great Britain and have maintained its independence for 120 years. Among the rights which it assumed was to coin money and regulate the value thereof. That right was maintained for nearly a century and the masses assert that they shall ever maintain it. The classes declare that such an assertion is anarchistic, and call upon European plutocrats for money and arguments to convince American citizens that they should not insist on coining money without the consent of Europe.

What would those who believe in letting Europe dictate our financial policy say if the proposition was made to let Europe dictate our tariff policy? Would not many of those who are today advocating the gold policy be up in arms against it? Yet there is scarcely an argument that can be advanced in favor of one that cannot, to a certain extent, be used in favor of the other. We are the greatest silver producing nation on the earth. England and other European nations must purchase a large amount of our silver product. It is of great importance to us as producers of the metal to maintain the price of silver at its coinage value, and it is equally important to England, as purchaser of silver, to depress the price of the metal. Instead of giving silver a fixed value as England gives gold, by opening the mints for its coinage, as was the law and the custom for years, we discriminate against it and benefit England by depressing its market value. We have not gold enough for our business requirements; in fact fifty or sixty millions of our people do not use gold money at all, yet one of the great political parties, whose leaders conspire with the gold owners of other nations, insist that gold and gold only shall be a legal tender for debts, which when contracted, were payable in coin, and coin, where the word occurs in Government contracts, was defined by Congress to mean gold or silver coins of the United States, among which are enumerated the dollar of 412½ grains of standard silver. How can it be termed repudiation to coin such dollars and pay debts with them, when they are nominated in the bond as coin? No nation of which mention is made in ancient or modern history, ever had too much gold and silver and why it is that persons who are working six days in every week of the year to get silver coins, should fear that they will get too much of such money if the mints are open to silver as they are to gold, can only be accounted for upon the hypothesis that though man is described by naturalists as an animal who reasons, all men are not reasoning animals.

WHY EMPLOYERS INTIMIDATE.

The editor of the Silver Knight has been canvassing in the Eastern States for several weeks and asserts, without fear of contradiction, that if the people could cast their ballots without fraud or corruption on the part of the gold men and without intimidation on the part of employers of labor Bryan would carry not only New York and New Jersey, but several of the New England States by a majority of two to one. The people are all one way, the banks and large employers of labor nearly all the other way.

This is accounted for by the fact that the London banks direct the policy of the New York banks, and the latter control the country banks, and the country banks have manufacturers and other business men by the throats and will not permit them to think or act for themselves. That explains why the employers of labor are issuing circulars in favor of McKinley and intimidating their employes. Many of the interior banks as well as the employers of labor believe in an American financial policy, but they are under obligations to the city banks and must do as they desire under threats of being forced to redeem their obligations if they refuse. The whole country is in the grasp of the money kings. It is yet in the power of the people to release themselves and if they make a combined and determined effort in November they will do so.

INCONSISTENT GOLDBUGS.

The goldbugs of Nevada are not more inconsistent than those of other States. Everywhere west of New York, where the Republicans were never kindly disposed toward silver, they have to repudiate their former declarations. Not only the rank and file of the party, but Mr. McKinley himself is inconsistent. In one of his recent talks to a trainload of workingmen, who were given a free ride to Canton, Mr. McKinley made assertions which are wholly inconsistent with each other. In one breath he asserted "that under free coinage the laborer will be cheated out of 47 cents on each dollar," and in another declared that the silver mine owners will make a profit of 47 cents on every dollar.

Now in the name of reason and common sense how can it be possible for the laborer to be cheated out of 47 cents on each dollar and for the mine owner to make 47 cents on every dollar? Can it be possible that anybody endowed with reasoning faculties can believe such statements? Do the people of the United States want a man in the Presidential chair who utters such twaddle to intelligent men?

THE LEADVILLE STRIKE.

The Governor Calls Upon the Militia to Enforce Martial Law.

DENVER, Sept. 23.—At 7 o'clock this morning Governor McIntyre sent a telegram of instructions to General Brooks at Leadville, giving him full power to act as his representative in suppressing the riot in that city and district. General Brooks is specifically instructed to permit no interference from any source whatever, and to act with or without co-operation of the local authorities. Lieutenant Bynam, a United States officer attached to the Governor's staff, on being asked if the order gave General Brooks military power sufficient to enforce martial law replied that it did practically amount to martial law.

LEADVILLE, September 23.—An attempt was made, presumably by strikers or their sympathizers, just before dawn to-day to destroy the Leadville waterworks. A guard of thirty soldiers had been stationed at the works. At about 5 A. M. the pickets saw a flash on a distant hill, supposed to have been a signal. A little later the sentry discerned forms crawling upon him. He hailed them and was answered by a shot. Several scattering shots were fired, but the attacking party, finding the guard wide awake, drew off without any injury being done to either side, so far as known.

Warrants have been issued for 25 members of the Miners' Union, including all the officers and the Executive Committee. Three men were landed in jail. They are E. J. Dewar, Secretary of the Miners' Union; Eugene Gannon, a member of the Executive Committee; and Gomar Richards, a member of the Union, who does not hold any official position.

The town was declared under martial law at 3 o'clock this afternoon by General Brooks, under the authority vested in him by the Governor of Colorado. General Brooks also ordered a military court to meet to-morrow morning to investigate the fight at the Coronado mine. Before this court, probably, the preliminary examination of the persons arrested to-day will take place.

The coasts of Great Britain and Ireland were swept by a terrific gale Tuesday night. Much damage was done on land and sea. The loss of life is slight.

Worden was resentenced at Woodland, California, yesterday by Judge Grant, who fixed Friday, December 18th as the time and Folsom Prison as the place for his execution.

Senator Sherman addressed a McKinley Club in Chicago yesterday and said there is a decided revulsion against silver in the West, especially in Montana, from which place he had just returned.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

A Weak Digestion

strange as it may seem, is caused from a lack of that which is never exactly digested—fat. The greatest fact in connection with appears at this point—it is partly digested fat—and the most weakened digestion is quickly strengthened by it.

The only possible help in Consumption is the arrest of waste and renewal of new, healthy tissue. Scott's Emulsion has done wonders in Consumption just this way.

AT THE RACE COURSE.

THIRD DAY OF THE FAIR.

University Day—A Large Crowd in Attendance—Many Interesting and Closely Contested Events.

Yesterday being University day at the grounds and the Indian games being special attractions, a larger crowd was in attendance than was anticipated. The grand stand was well filled and there was a long line of carriages filled with occupants.

The Indians turned out in force, papooses and all, and took a lively interest in the sports.

The first feature was the football game, twenty Indians on a side, and they played with an energy that was surprising to the spectators. There didn't seem to be any touchdowns, first or second halves, but a general go-as-you-please-clawing-and-scrambling match. Doubtless there was a winner, but just which side or what the name of the team might be, was not an easy matter to find out.

Next came the war dance with twenty warriors and it was a novel sight.

The Indian pony race followed and after the usual preliminaries the ponies struck out with the riders madly flinging their arms and hats and were soon strung out a quarter of a mile. The race as usual created amusement.

THE RACES.

Two trotting races were on the program, the first being a 2:20 trot. Mamie F, Ouibold, Cameo L and Lottie G were the starters.

Mamie F won the first heat in 2:27, Lottie G took the second heat in 2:25½ and then Cameo L came in in three straight heats, winning the race.

The next race was trotting, three minute class, District horses. This was a good race and created considerable interest. El Primero won in two straight heats; time 2:45.

THE PAVILION

Presented an animated scene last night. There was a large crowd in attendance and all were splendidly entertained. Prof. Dann's stereopticon exhibition was of the best and the views presented were greatly enjoyed.

It was expected that the x-ray would be demonstrated, but in moving the apparatus from the electric station to the Pavilion a part of the coil was broken which necessitated the unwinding and rewinding of thirty-five miles of wire. The break was not discovered until Tuesday evening and Messrs. Wilson and Caffrey, the operators, are working as rapidly as possible to repair it. These gentlemen hope to be able on Friday evening to get results that will be astonishing. If everything runs as anticipated the demonstration will be repeated on Saturday evening.

The stereopticon views will be presented to-night accompanied with music, and a number of new effects will be introduced.

WEDDING BELLS.

John C. Shaver and Miss Helena E. Dawson Joined in Holy Wedlock.

John C. Shaver and Miss Helena E. Dawson, two of Reno's best known young people, were married at the residence of the bride last evening. The wedding was a quiet one, only the relatives and most intimate friends of the contracting parties being present. Rev. Samuel Unsworth officiated and Dwight Dawson, brother of the bride, and Miss Lizzie Shaver, sister of the bridegroom, were the supporters of the young couple. The rooms were handsomely decorated with flowers, smilax and bridalwreath and the hangings were festooned with pretty wreaths.

Promptly at the hour, named, 8 o'clock, the wedding party filed into the parlor and took their positions and the clergyman read the impressive ceremony and spoke the words that bound the young people together for life.

The bride was dressed in pure white and looked very pretty. The usual wreath was worn and a beautiful bouquet was carried in her hand. Mrs. Shaver is well known in Reno having lived here nearly all her life and has many warm friends who will wish her every happiness.

John C. Shaver was raised in Reno and is quite popular with his associates. His friends will wish him success and happiness in his new venture and no doubt John will make a good and true husband to the girl he has chosen for his life's companion.

The JOURNAL extends its hearty congratulations and hopes that Mr. and Mrs. Shaver's married life may ne'er be marred by an hour of sadness, but be one long honeymoon of wedded bliss.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaver were the recipients of many handsome and valuable presents, and the guests were entertained at a sumptuous wedding supper.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phœbe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her, and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St. San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this remedy for coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at Hodgkinson's Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.

NEVADA PRESS ASSOCIATION.

Its Annual Meeting—Election of Officers and Other Business Transacted.

In accordance with previous notice, the Nevada Press Association held its second annual meeting at the office of the Gazette yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. There was a good attendance and considerable business was transacted.

Mr. Kelley of the JOURNAL, President of the Association, called the meeting to order and spoke as follows:

FELLOW MEMBERS:—The first year of our Association has resulted in much good to the fraternity. It has brought the newspaper men of Nevada into closer relationship. They meet, and, I am pleased to note, instead of their rubbing against each other producing friction, it has the opposite effect. Members, who a year ago had on their war paint and were sharpening their tomahawks to go for each other, are to-day smoking the pipe of peace together. They find by coming personally in contact with each other that they are not such monsters as they had imagined. Some benefit has accrued to the press from this organization. A better understanding exists as to rates and other matters of importance to every newspaper publisher, and, if the regulations adopted at former meetings, were adhered to more closely greater benefits would result.

Last spring the Association had its first annual excursion, in which nearly all the members participated. We visited the Capitol city of the Golden Gate State, attended flower festivals at Los Angeles, feasted on clams and cockels at Santa Monica, and on bacon soup at Santa Barbara, and paid for what we did not get at Fresno. We were royally treated at Sacramento, Redlands and Los Angeles, and discovered the north pole at Santa Barbara. In San Francisco we were hospitably entertained by the proprietor of the Occidental Hotel, and the famous Sutro baths at the Cliff House were opened to us by the Mayor of the city. The excursion was one of the most enjoyable events, and nothing occurred to mar the pleasures of the occasion except the snoring of Sam Davis, Secretary Bragg's disposition to remain out late of nights, and Chief Templar Vardy's desire to prove the merits of his favorite brand of soda water by actual test.

Members of this association, I congratulate you upon the success of the organization, and I sincerely hope that every newspaper man and woman in the State will join our society, and that effort will be made at the ensuing session of the legislature to repeal such laws as are detrimental to the press and enact such legislation as may be deemed beneficial to our interests.

The Association immediately proceeded to business and many things of importance to the press of the State were carefully considered and arranged.

Secretary Bragg filed his annual report which was approved.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted in the following: President, E. D. Kelley of the Reno JOURNAL; Vice President, C. H. Sproule of the Elko Free Press; Secretary and Treasurer, Allen C. Bragg of the Gazette.

N. A. Hummel of the Wadsworth Dispatch, A. J. McCarthy of the Hawthorne Bulletin and S. P. Davis of the Carson Appeal were elected as directors.

Arbitration Committee—S. P. Davis, Allen C. Bragg, N. A. Hummel, G. M. Smith and I. Olcovich.

A Committee on Legislation was appointed, consisting of Allen C. Bragg and S. C. Davis, and, on motion, President Kelley was added to the committee.

The secretary was instructed to notify all those in arrears for dues to pay up, and if he did not hear from them in a reasonable length of time to drop their names from the list of membership.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, By the Nevada Press Association that the name of no lawyer, dentist or doctor should be mentioned in a professional way by any paper of the association unless his professional card appears in one or more papers in the town in which he resides."

The meeting passed off harmoniously and proved of great benefit to the members. The meeting was then adjourned to meet at the Riverside at 7 o'clock.

Furniture, Carpets, Etc.

Messrs. Donelis & Steinmetz have received the largest stock of furniture ever brought to Reno direct from Eastern factories. They have also received a large stock of carpets, rugs, linoleums and mattings. They are now unpacking the goods and will be ready for business in a few days in the Investment Company's new building. Persons contemplating purchasing anything in their line will find it to their advantage to examine their stock. se23t3

BREVITIES.

Go to the Riverside Studio for your photographs this week. Dann, the artist, cannot be beaten this side of San Francisco.

W. W. Booher and Rev. Mr. Riddle of Elko, A. J. McCarthy of Hawthorne and the Olcovich brothers of Carson are visiting Reno.

To-day is bicycle day at the track and some good records are anticipated. Prof. Baisden will perform his most wonderful feats in trick riding.

Ed. Peterson, R. J. Kelley, H. J. Mulcahy and George Trantin, all Carson wheelmen, arrived last evening and will go in the bicycle races to-day.

John M. Dormer, formerly of Nevada, now a member of the Examiner force at San Francisco, arrived from Beckwith last evening after a two weeks' outing and is on his return to California.

H. J. Thyes will serve his usual fine noonday lunch to-day. His place is the most popular in town and he has the reputation of keeping the best goods in the trade. Next to the Washoe County bank.

PRESS ASSOCIATION BANQUET.

A Feast of Reason and a Flow of Soul.

The Nevada Press Association held its annual meeting here yesterday and the members were the guests of President Powning of the State Agricultural Society at the Riverside Hotel last evening. Covers were laid for forty-five or fifty persons, many of whom were prominent business men, to whom the press is under obligations, as they help sustain it. The tables groaned neath the weight of good things and wit, humor and logic vied with each other for supremacy. The pulpit, the State University, the commercial and banking institutions, as well as the press were represented and the occasion was one of the most enjoyable conceivable. The remarks of several of the gentlemen, especially those of President Stubbs, Mr. R. L. Fulton, Mr. N. A. Hummel, Mr. W. W. Booher and Congressman Newlands were worthy of being recorded, but as no stenographer attended only those who heard them will know their force and logic. The humor of Sam Davis was equal to Mark Twain's best efforts and the welcome of President Powning touched a responsive chord in the breasts of his guests, and the Nevada State Agricultural Society will henceforth as heretofore have fast friends in the Press Association. At a late hour the guests adjourned with an invitation from Mr. Newlands to meet again at the Riverside a year hence.

Death of an Old Timer.

Captain J. A. Palmer of Carlin died Tuesday evening at his residence. He was in robust health two weeks ago but contracted a severe cold which developed into pneumonia which resulted fatally. He was an old resident, having resided in Elko county about 28 years. He was Justice of the Peace for many years and was a member of the Masonic Fraternity. He was well known throughout the State and was a man of positive opinions and strong convictions. He was prominent in Republican circles years ago, but joined the independent Silver movement in 1892 and was a member of the Silver County Convention which met in Elko two weeks ago and declined the nomination of District Attorney. Cap. Palmer, as he was familiarly called, had many friends who will regret to hear of his sudden and unexpected death. He was about 73 years of age and a native of Rhode Island.

Mrs. B. E. Hunter is the busy woman who has in less than four years, here in Reno, sold Thirteen Thousand Seven Hundred dollars worth of Viavi remedies. The reason so much has been sold is simply because they are the grandest remedies in the world and will not fail to cure if used as recommended. Gentlemen who have stomach troubles, come and get some of our tabloids; you will never regret it. Any person who is ill, come and see if we have not a remedy that will cure you.

The Elleford Company.

Judging from last evening's production of "Pawn Ticket 210" by the Elleford Company at McKissick's Opera House it is not surprising that it has attracted large houses and proved a phenominal success wherever presented. The piece is well mounted and fully deserves the success it has achieved. There is good stuff in it. In places it raises to a very high level in thought and dramatic interest. Jessie Norton was bright and interesting as "Mag" and kept the house in the merriest of humor by her sayings. W. J. Elleford makes a great deal out of Uncle Harris, a pawn broker. If Mr. Elleford were in search of a character part in which to star he could not appear to better advantage. Isiah Gregg, the villian, is well given by Richard Scott. Frank Wyman as Montague Flash acts with much spirit. His situations are extremely comical and there is a constant go about him which captured the audience. Frank Cooley is also deserving of commendation. James Corrigan sustained the part of John Sternhold playing it with an easy expertness. Lillian Elliot as Alice Sternhold was excellently sustained. Miss Pauline Maitland appeared to good advantage as Ruth Sternhold. Little Pearl Landers appeared in her specialties. To-night "The Volunteer." The piece will be thoroughly and handsomely mounted, of which the general presentation of previous pieces by the Elleford Company is in a great measure a guaranty.

HOW TO KEEP COOL.

SOME OF THE METHODS EMPLOYED BY NATIVES OF THE TROPICS.

Artificial Swamps of New Guinea—India's "Floating Villages"—Subterranean Dwellings of the Syrians—The King of Siam's Glass House.

If people will only profit by example they can keep cool. Just see how the other fellow, who lives where it is always hot, manages to be comfortable, and then you will have struck the key-note.

For centuries the inhabitants of the tropics have been devising ways to keep cool. Not only have the natural resources of their own countries been converted into methods of cooling schemes, but the mechanical skill of modern science has also been introduced by the fabulously wealthy rulers of these semibarbarous lands.

The natives of New Guinea, who are compelled, owing to the intense heat, to go almost naked during most of the year, have hit upon a scheme that is claimed to make life not only bearable, but highly enjoyable during the long, hot days when the broiling sun is sending down seeming rays of fire.

While their plan does not tax the brains of modern science, it is, nevertheless, unique, and involves the labor of an enormous army of workers. Their method is to take a broad stretch of land adjoining their large villages and convert it into a swamp. This is done by clearing the land thoroughly of all vegetation and underbrush, only the trees being left standing. By months of patient labor, in which all inhabitants of the village, both men and women, join, they dig a canal from the nearest lake and drain it into their artificial marsh. The depth of water in these marshes varies from 10 to 20 or 30 feet, according to the excavation done beforehand.

Trees are then cut and carefully stripped of both bark and branches and driven in groups in numerous parts of the marsh, leaving about 10 or 15 feet above the water. On the tops of these stilts, or piles, the houses are then built and so overhang the marsh.

In some parts of India "floating villages" have been constructed with great success. The inventors of this mode of keeping cool came from inland tribes of natives, where the heat killed off hundreds every year. These men journeyed to the river shores and there built their houses on large flat rafts. Some of these villages have now grown to large proportions, and one near MacCluer's inlet, or gulf of Cuin, as it is now called, numbers over 800 houses. They are all connected by ropes, with some 20 feet of water between, and move with the current. This huge excursion fleet, as it appears, lazily floats from one shore to the other and up and down the stream, catching all the air that comes from the neighboring forests. The difference in temperature between the land and the rafts averages 25 degrees.

In Syria the latest and most effectual scheme of escaping the stifling heat has been found in the subterranean passages, of which the country has many. Large forces of Syrians have made mammoth excavations in the passages, and here, deep down in the bowels of the earth, built abodes. It is very cool down there, the rocks oftentimes being actually cold. This is largely accounted for by their contact with the numerous subterranean waterways, which flow along under mountains and rents in the rocks caused by internal volcanic eruptions.

Down there, hundreds of feet beneath the earth's surface and in, as it were, a gigantic tomb, the Syrians pass the heated portion of the day in quiet seclusion and peaceful rest.

The Chinese, although a backward and unprogressive race, have nevertheless tried many experiments for keeping cool, and think they have solved the question by their "tree dwellings." At least it is the most satisfactory method that has ever been put in operation in the Flowery Kingdom.

Taking advantage of the tremendous growth of trees in some parts of the yellow empire, the natives have built their houses, like nests, in them. This they do by splitting the large and topmost branches and fitting the foundation of these houses securely in these splits.

Perched up there, a hundred feet in the air and in the direct sweep of the wind when there is any, the Celestials dream away the tedious summer day. The type of architecture is more pretentious than that displayed in the simple log cabin. The walls are decorated with curious designs, and the interwoven latticework of palm and bamboo which form the houses give them a delightfully cool and airy appearance. It is an ideal nest, and one in which the Celestial never tires of lingering.

The king of Siam has a scheme on which that swarthy ruler labored for many years, and which, besides being wholly original, represents an expenditure of money that would make a dozen men wealthy for life. In substance, it is a mammoth glass room, measuring some 20 feet square by 15 feet high, constructed on the surface of a lake, into which it is submerged on hot days.

With the exception of the floor, it is entirely of heavy plate glass closely fitted into steel frames. It took over five years of steady labor to make this remarkable room, and so jealous of the secret was its imperial inventor that each particle of the room was manufactured in a different place and by workmen entirely unfamiliar with the other parts of the structure.—New York Journal.

A Modern Sindbad.

Some imaginative writer tells the tale of a sailor who was shipwrecked three times, was in four collisions and two fires at sea, suffered from sunstroke and yellow fever, lost a finger or two by frostbite, had one eye gouged out in a fight at San Francisco, came home, married a shopkeeping widow, who henpecked him, got out of his course one foggy day and walked into the river, where he was found next morning still chewing his overnight quid of tobacco, but without his glass eye. This is the novelist's type and is perhaps somewhat highly colored, but it may be compared with some actual types.

One of the men we have in mind fell from the main yard and broke his left arm before he had been at sea a month on his first voyage as an apprentice. On the return voyage from San Francisco he fell from the same yard and broke one of his legs. The vessel was wrecked in a gale off the southwest coast of Ireland, and this unhappy youth, fate pro fugus, was saved, with three others, out of a crew of 26, only, however, to find that his next ship, laden with coal, took fire on the other side of Cape Horn and had to be abandoned by her crew, who were six days in their boats before a homeward bound ship picked them up.

His third vessel ran ashore at the entrance to Hongkong harbor in her hurry to get inside before a Yankee with whom she was in company. When our friend found his fourth ship dismasted in a cyclone, in the Indian ocean, he came to the conclusion that sea life, which he had been quite prepared to like, was too exciting for him and he decided forthwith, provided he got safely out of that scrape, to leave it to those with better luck.—Macmillan's Magazine.

Charles Reade on Bare Walls.

I had the honor once to know in London Charles Reade, a most remarkable and great man, as well as a great novelist of the higher realistic school. Reade was, above all things, a practical man. He had the eye of an eagle, and no things that needed reformation escaped it. One day, when I dined with him at his house in London, his rus in urbe, as he called it, he said that he had been an examiner at a board school examination that day and that he had been again struck by the barrenness and unattractiveness of the average public school room. "I suppose," said I, "that it is a realization of the American idea. By giving the scholars nothing to look at but their books their attention is supposed to be concentrated on their lessons." "Just so," he said, "but it isn't. The brain works through the eye. Those infernal bare walls do not stimulate the mind. They stupefy it." Here is the statement of an absolute fact which, fortunately, wise teachers are now recognizing the world over.—Collector.

The earliest year consisted of 12 months, having each 29 and 30 days alternately, thus making 354 days. This being found too short, it was lengthened to 360 days and afterward to 365¼.
